A Busy Saturday

Last Saturday, Jack got up early and made breakfast for his family. Then he helped his mom clean the room and water the plants. In the afternoon, he cooked dinner together with his dad. They made pasta with tomato sauce. After dinner, Jack did the dishes and fed his pet dog. His little sister helped him sweep the floor. Jack was very tired, but he was happy, because he helped his family a lot. His mom said, "You are a helpful boy!" On Sunday, Jack made a gift for his grandma and took it to her home. It was a busy weekend, but Jack learned that doing chores together makes the family happy.

My Best Friend

My best friend is Lily. She is eleven years old. She is tall and thin, and she has long hair and big eyes. She is kind and quiet, but she is friendlier than me. Lily is smarter than I am, and I am faster than she is. We are different, but we get along very well. We often read books together in the library, and we play games after school. Sometimes she helps me with Chinese, and I help her with math. On Fridays, we play football on the playground with our classmates. I like Lily because she is kind and always helps me. A friend in need is a friend indeed. I hope we can be good friends forever.

1.What does Lily look like? (3')

A Walk in Our Community

Our community is big and beautiful. There is a park, a library, a supermarket and a gym in it. Last Sunday, the weather was sunny, so Nina and her father took a walk in the park. They saw many people doing sports there. Her mother went to the supermarket to go shopping. In the afternoon, Nina went to the library with her father. She read books about animals there, because she thinks reading is important. On their way home, they saw the bus stop near the shop. Nina loves her community. She says, "There are many useful places near my home, and the people here are kind. I often see my neighbors and say hello to them."

1.Where did Nina and her father go last Sunday? (3')

_____

2.What did Nina do in the library? (3')

_____

3.What places are there in Nina's community? (At least 2) (4')

Fresh Food from Our Garden

Our class has a small school garden. Every student loves it. Last month, we dug the soil and planted some seeds — tomatoes, cucumbers and green beans. We have to water the garden three times a week, and we weed it every Friday. We also pick out the small stones and take care of the plants every day. Now the plants are growing well. Last week, we picked some fresh tomatoes and lettuce. Our teacher cooked a big bowl of vegetable soup for us. It was delicious! We learned that fresh food is good for us, and growing vegetables is fun but not easy. Now we never waste food, because we know how hard it is to grow it.

1. What did the class plant in the garden? (3')

_____

2. How often do they have to water the garden? (3')

_____

3. What did the class pick last week? (At least 2) (4')

The Same and Different

Amy and her cousin Mike look like twins, but they are different in many ways. Mike is older and taller than Amy. Amy is smaller, but she runs faster than Mike. Amy has wavy hair and she inherited it from her mother. Mike has straight hair, just like his father. Last week, they learned about family traits in science class. The teacher showed them their earlobes: Amy has attached earlobes, and Mike has unattached earlobes. Mike can fold his tongue, but Amy can't. They found it very interesting! Amy thinks family traits are like a special gift from our family. Now she wants to learn more about her relatives and find more similarities and differences.

A Hero Next Door

Uncle Ben is a firefighter. He works in the fire station near our community. Every day, he gets up early and checks his big red truck. When there is a fire, he hears the siren and drives the truck very fast. Firefighters put out fires and save people. Sometimes people are trapped in a burning building, and Uncle Ben goes in and helps them get out. He also helps people when they have accidents or get sick. Last month, he visited our school and taught us how to be safe in a fire. "Do not hide. Shout for help and get out fast," he said. Uncle Ben is a hero to me, because his job is dangerous, but he is brave and helpful. I want to be a hero like him one day.

A Happy Friday

Last Friday was a special day for Class Four. The students went to the old people's home near the school with their teacher. They wanted to do something for the old people there. In the morning, the girls cleaned the rooms and made the beds. The boys watered the flowers in the small garden. At noon, they helped the cooks make dumplings, and everyone ate lunch together. In the afternoon, Anna sang an old song, and Mike told a funny story. The old people laughed and clapped their hands. Grandma Li said, "You are like my grandchildren. Thank you for coming." The students were tired but very happy. They learned that helping other people can make everyone happy, and they want to visit again next month.

One Busy Day

Tom had a very busy day yesterday. He was very hungry in the morning, so he ate three eggs and a big bowl of noodles. At school, he felt sleepy in the first class, because he went to bed late the night before. After lunch, he played football with his friends on the playground, and he felt excited. But in the afternoon, he was bored in the music class, because the song was too long. After school, he could not find his schoolbag. He was scared, so he shouted for help. His friend Jack came and helped him. The schoolbag was under the desk! Tom felt much better. At night, he was very tired, so he took a nap before dinner. "What a day!" he said to his mother.
